Hop In to Bunnies & Baskets at Langley Centennial Museum

Looking for something fun to do with your family this Easter long weekend? Join the Langley Centennial Museum at 9135 King Street in Fort Langley for the second annual Bunnies & Baskets event.

The egg-citing event run on Saturday, March 26 from 10:00am to 12:00pm and again from 1:30pm to 3:30pm. The event is $10 for a family of four.

Activities include a scavenger egg hunt in the History Gallery where participants can try to find all the eggs that Peter Rabbit has hidden. There will also be a variety of arts and crafts projects that families can build and create together, including Easter baskets, rabbit masks, and egg painting and dyeing. There will be live bunnies to pet, relay races, and word from the carrot patch is that the Easter Bunny will also make an appearance.

“Last year was the very first year the museum hosted this event and it was a huge success,” said Township of Langley Arts and Culture Programmer Maggie Lukban. “We had six stations set up around the museum, so there were lots of creative opportunities for busy little hands. The petting zoo was a popular attraction and families enjoyed having various activities they could complete at their own pace. This event had a morning and afternoon session and both sold out. You will not want to miss the family friendly event, so register early!”
