Filming Guide for Residents

The Township of Langley is one of the most film-friendly municipalities in the Lower Mainland. This has been achieved largely because of you - residents who welcome and support balanced, safe, and harmonious filming in our community.

What you should know about filming in your neighbourhood:

1. Filming authorization

All filming that impacts the public, uses or occupies municipal lands, rights-of-way, and/or buildings, and is wholly contained to private property, must be endorsed by the Township of Langley.

2. Proposed filming notification

Every production must notify affected residents of proposed filming through a Township-approved notification letter.

3. Consent for proposed extraordinary filming

Through a Township-approved polling letter, every production must obtain residents' support for proposed works taking place outside of bylaw-stipulated work hours.

4. Production vehicle parking

Only essential production work vehicles will be considered by the Township for approval to park on municipal streets.

5. Working with productions that want to film on your property

Property owners are responsible for negotiating directly with the production company the terms of use for their home and/or private property. The Township remains external to these private negotiations.

6. Registering your property for filming

Property owners interested in registering their private property as a potential filming location can visit Creative BC's website to register their property. For more information, visit creativebc.com/community/register-your-property.

7. Commendations and complaints register

The Township maintains a database to log and track commendations and to register legitimate complaints against a non-compliant film production.

8. Bylaw infractions

If a Township-approved film production working in your neighbourhood does not appear to comply with municipal bylaws, contact the Bylaw Enforcement Department at 604.532.7551 or bylaws@tol.ca
